To Enforce Judgment.

To enforce a judgment creditor's bill of $5,000, Cabell Whitehead has filed a bill in equity against John H. Walter and Frederic P. Dewey, praying that the defendants be restrained from disposing of cer-tain letters patent. The sale of the letters patent are also asked.

Crony Green, a little colored newsboy, was cut in the thigh by another newsboy at the corner of 7th street and the avenue yesterday morning. He was taken care of at the Emergency Hospital.

Full of Buckshot.

John Alban, a colored man, came to the Emergency Hospital yesterday, pretty thoroughly shot to pieces. He said another colored man had shot him during the night in a dark room over in Hillsdale. His right arm, chest, shoulder and jaw were full of buckshot. It is a marvel he escaped alive. Dr. McDonald picked him out of the buckshot and tied him together. Some of the shot are still in him, and it will not be safe for John to go swimming very soon.

For a Relief Fund. Lafayette Relief Corps, W. R. C., gave an entertainment last night at 910 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, for the purpose of replenishing their relief fund, from which many widows and orphans of old soldiers are cared for in sickness and through the hard times. Mrs. Annie Hamilton, president, gave an address. The program, musical and literary, was one of unusual interest.

The Royal Crescen

At the last meeting of Crescent Lodge, Order of the Royal Crescent, the vice pres-ident, Mrs. Mattle E. Johnson, presided, and conferred the degree of the crescent on John N. Ehle. Mr. Joseph Harper, representative to the Supreme Lodge, sub-mitted his report, showing the order at large to be in a flourishing condition, both financially and numerically. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

For a Cutting Affray.

Robert Quiet, 'the colored man charged with having cut and seriously injured William Lee, Monday night, was arrested in South Washington last night and locked up on a charge of attempted murder. Lee, his alleged victim, is resting comfortably in the hospital. Today Quiet was taken to the Police Court, and the case will be tried when Lee is able to appear.

The Golden Cross.

Columbia Commandery, United Order of the Golden Cross, at its meeting last evening received one application for membership, and conferred the degrees on two lady candidates. The initiation service was excellently rendered by the following officers: Noble Commander Edwin J. Hopkins, Vice Noble Commander Mrs. Celestia A. Sullivan, Worthy Prelate Dr. W. E. Bradley, Past Noble Commander Mrs. Anna A. Harvey, Worthy Herald Wm. E. Talley. Interesting remarks under the good of the order were made by Dr. Dickinson, Mrs. Sullivan, E. Q. Gunson, R. E. Harvey, Jas. F. Kilgore of Capital Commandery and others. At the next meeting, on the 10th of September, the degrees will be conferred. lady candidates. The initiation service was Struck Bridget Nicholson.

Bridget Nicholson, the woman who is so well known on 15th street and Pennsylvania avenue as "Mary, the Newswoman," had an unpleasant experience while getting her Stars yesterday afternoon. She always gets her papers early, and yesterday when gets her papers early, and yesterday when a boy was crowded out of line Bridget was charged by James Cole, a colored boy, with being responsible for the boy's misfortune, He took sides with the boy and in doing so he went too far. He evidently forgot that Bridget was a woman, and for no apparent reason he dealt her a stunning blow in the face, drawing blood from her nose, and he also kicked her. Policeman Carlsson appeared on the scene and arrested Cole, who also kicked her. Policeman Carlsson appeared on the scene and arrested Cole, who was locked up for assault. When the case was called in Judge Milis' court today the prisoner plead not guilty and made a statement in which he attempted to justify his conduct. But the court could see no justification and imposed a sentence of ninety days in jail and a fine of $20 or thirty days additional.

Minor Cases Quickly Settled in the Police Court.

Only One Representative of the Gentle Sex, and She Gets a

"I've been in this place a whole lot of times," said Maggie Lee, a colored wowho was the only person in the females' cell this morning, "but never before have I had the whole cell to myself." "What's the matter this time?" she w asked. "Nothing much," she answered. "More than a year ago I had trouble with a girl, and had to leave town after I beat her. I thought it was all over, and so I came back. Then I went to work at Takoma. and when we met we had a cussin' match. "And did you strike her again?"

"I never teched her. But I am going to let whisky alone now and keep out of trouble for one more year."

Maggie was given a back seat when the prisoners were turned into the pen from the cells, but when Judge Scott appeared on the bench and court was opened her case was advanced, and she was first to appear at the prison rail.

There were only nineteen police victims in the cells, and fifteen of them were in Judge Scott's procession.

in the cells, and fifteen of them were in Judge Scott's procession.

"I don't know whether I cussed or no," she said when arraigned; "but I am guilty of saying two things. I told her that a man who had lived with me gave her some groceries."

When the judge questioned her she said she had been laying for Emma Foster for three years to beat her because she's living with her friend.

"You will have to pay a fine of $5." said.

'You will have to pay a fine of $5," said

"You will have to pay a fine of $5," said the judge.
"That don't make no difference," said Maggie as she started back; "I'm deturnined to beat her before I die."
William Patton, a small colored boy, plead guilty to a charge of jumping on a cable car while the car was in motion.
"You will have to pay a fine of $2," said the court. "If you keep up this practice you'll get killed, and that will be worse than paying a fine."

Smashed Things.

John Reynolds, a citizen of Georgetown, who had indulged in some "red liquor" city in the procession.

When he had drank what liquor he wanted, he started across the bridge, but be-fore going over there he stopped at the of-fice on the bridge long enough to paint the

"Was he drunk?" Judge Scott asked.
"I think he was," responded witness, "He acted very much as if he had been drinking."

"With what did he beat the office?"

"With what did he beat the office?"
"With his fist."

"Was he disorderly or profane?"
"No, sir; he only did the damage "No. sir; he only old stated."
The prisoner made a denial of the charge, but admitted that he slapped the side of the office while passing it.
"Had you been drinking?"
"Yes sir."

"Yes, sir."

"So far as the breaking of the glass is concerned," raid Judge Scott, "that is only a question of damages, but you will have to pay a fine of $2 for being drunk."

A little boy name1 Columbus "Thomas, also from Georgetown, was in court for throwing stones, and he admitted his guilt.

"What made you do this?"

"A man got after me," the little boy said.
"and I threw two bricks at him in self defense."

refuse him."
"I've been working up in Pennsylvania,"

"There's more room in Pennsylvania than there is here."

He was given thirty days.
"I'm guilty of being drunk, but not cussin'," said a Georgetown colored man, named Edward Mason.

The policeman told a different story.
He said that Mason was drunk and profane, and gave him a great amount of trouble.

"As you are a working man," said the judge, "I'll fine you only $2 or six days."

Edward Whalen, a Georgetown-resident, was in the procession on two charges. He was drinking yesterday, and when he got in- trouble with some boys he threw a stone and broke a window.

Judge Scott listened to the man's explanation. He did not remember all that happened, but his excuse was not a good one. Drinking whisky and throwing stones, the judge told him, was a bad combination, and fined him $10 or thirty days.

Other Cases.

Charles Wood, a young colored citizen, appeared very tired when Deputy Clerk Harper called him to the rail to answer a charge of discrderly conduct. Charlie was to all appearances just getting ready for a morning nao, but when he heard his name called he jumped from his seat and said 'guilty."
He had been arrested in South Washing-

He had been arrested in South Washington, and the usual fine was imposed.

Daniel Robinson, a colored man from Anacostia, was in the procession because he had indulged in some profanity in front of his home last night.

"I don't use no fiame talk," said the man, "'cause I belongs to church."

Policeman Brarson's evidence was conclusive, and the court fined him the usual amount, $5 or fifteen days.

Winston Allen, a colored boy from Richmond, who says he trains race horses, was tried as a suspicious person. He waited in front of a store on Pennsylvania avenue southeas: yesterday while his companion went in and stole several dollars.

His sentence was ten days on the farm.

Robert Downing.-The Grand Opera House will open for the season next Monday, and the initial attraction will be Sardou's tragedy, "Helena," presented by Robert Downing and his company. Mr. Downing secured this play at considerable cost, and has spared no expense to give it a fitting preespecially for it and the costumes will be elaborate and historically accurate. The title role will be played by Miss Eugenie Blair (Mrs. Downing) and is said to be strongly drawn and within her particular strongly drawn and within her particular line. Mr. Downing's part will afford him opportunity for the display of that heroic and virile type of man for which nature has peculiarly fitted him. His company is an unusually strong one and will adequately interpret the great French dramatist's work. Mr. Downing is a Washingtonian, and this community is proud of the honorable record he has made upon the stage. His popularity here in his home is very great, and there is no doubt that the capacity of the Opera House will be tested during his engagement. Already great interest has been excited in the coming production of "Helena," and many requests for seats have been made. The sale will open at the box office tomorrow morning.

Miaco's City Club.—T. E. Miaco's Spectacular Farce Comedy Company will be Manager Kernan's attraction for next week. The City Club is one of the most popular and complete burlesque organizations on the road. This season Manager Miaco has been exceedingly lavish in expenditure on costumes and scenery, everything being new, rich and striking. The opening burletta, "The City Club in Gay Paree," presents a number of marvelous effects in stagecraft, both mechanical and electrical, the transformation scene being the most extravagant affair ever seen on a variety stage. The olio which follows contains many new features, including the French eccentrics, Paula and Dika: Tom Nolen, the parody singer; Chas. V. Semon, the clever mimic; the Sisters Milburn, character change artists; Fred Bulla, the acrobatic dancing wonder, and Harry Bryant and Carrie Fulton, the comedy duo. The closing burlesque, "A Tempting Town," will serve to introduce the dashing queen of burlesque, Fannie E. Everet. The artlet's studio scene will be a feature of this part of the program. EXCURSIONS.

The regular Thursday night trip of th steamer Macalester will take place tomorrow evening, at 6:30, to Indian Head and Marshall Hall. As the season is now drawing to a close, a great number of people are taking advantage of these Thursday, Friday and Saturday evening trips to escape from the heat and glare of the hou city, and spend a brief period on the waters of the beautiful Potomac, and, as an evidence that the trips are increasing steadily in popularity, the fact is shown that several times already the boat has been com-pelled, by lack of space, to go and leave several hundred people standing on the wharf. The regular Friday and Saturday evening trips will also be made this week.

evening trips will also be made this week.

The Samuel J. Pentz will leave at 9:45 tomorrow morning for an all-day trip to Chapel Point. The boat will stop at Alexandria at 10:15, and will arrive in Washington about 10 o'clock at night. The fare for the round trip is twenty-five cents, and a large crowd is expected by the management. It will be one of the most enjoyable family excursions of the season, and, as this will be one of the last trips to this beautiful place during the present time, there is every likelihood that the prediction of a crowd will be fulfilled.

The dress ball, at which the crowning of the queen and maids of honor will take place, will occur this evening, and will last until an early hour in the morning. A number will occur this evening, and will last until an early hour in the morning. A number of Washingtonians are expected down on the evening boats, which will leave at 5 and 6:45 p.m. L. Allison Wilmer delivered the oration of the day, and his effort was a very happy one. Mr. Robert Crain will deliver the oration this evening in presenting the successful knights and announcing the crowning.

This coming Saturday will be the last one This coming Saturday will be the last one of the season at popular River View. It will be the last chance the little ones will have to spend the day at this beautiful place, as it will also be the last family day of the season. The children are allowed to go for 10 cents on the two morning boats Saturday, together with their parents and friends, and no effort is spared to enable them to have a good time. As this is the last trip of the season, it is expected that the grounds will hardly be large enough to hold the numbers who will probably take advantage of the opportunity to enjoy an outing for almost nothing.

Mr. McKle fired a revolver at the men, after finding he could not capture them in their act, but his shot failed to take effect. The would-be robbers left a large crowbar, which they had used in trying to get into the building, behind them, and this was taken to the fifth precinct station by Officer Ryan, who was attracted to the scene by the noise of the shooting.

A petition for maintenance has been filed by Rachel A. Beall, the wife of Charles Beall, in which the wife states that they were married here July 28, 1856, six of their eleven children still living. Mrs. Beall charges that her husband wrongfully deserted her in 1886, but allowed her for a time $50 a month. That amount, she says, has been gradually reduced, until of late she has received but $15 a month. She claims that her husband owns considerable property, and insists that he should allow her a reasonable amount for her maintenance. The petition was presented to Judge McComas, who directed that the husband show cause why the petition should not be granted on the 3d of next month.

AFFAIRS IN GEORGETOWN

One of Coxey's Army Agrested and Turned Over to the Maryland Authorities.

Wilmot's Attempted Suicide-Right of Way Secured for the Great Falls R. R. Company-Notes.

A man unpreposeessing in appearance, ragged, unshaven end disagreeable-looking all around, was brought to the station yesterday by Officer Murphy. The fellow, who gave his name as Joseph Newell, is suspected of many petty robberies, all committed beyond the District line. At the station he practically acknowledged his guilt. He had no right to work, he said, here were enough mules in the country to perform necessary labor. While he could get $4 or $5 worth of goods daily, he didn't intend to overwork his muscles. His body vas given him to develop and make more like his Creator's-not to wear and tear away. He said that he was a remnant c Coxey army, and had been "stag-it about the country since his advent ast May. Newell being an offender who comes under Maryland jurisdiction was turned over to Sheriff Green of Montgomery county. He dien't seem to care much, and re-marked that he wouldn't have to hustle now for food. It would be brought to him by the servants of the people, the prison

A Right of Way Secured. The legal controversy that has been ending over the efforts of the Washington and Great Falls Railroad Company, represented by Stilson Hutchins and Jacob P. Clark, to secure a right of way through the Green Springs property, owned by the Green Springs property, owned by Messrs. J. B. McCaffrey and Wm. H. Manogue, was satisfactorily settled yesterday through an amicable agreement, legally bound, made in Mr. Manogue's office. Through the agreement the injunction and all other proceedings now pending against the company will be dismissed. The Washington and Great Falls Company purchased outright from the Green Springs owners. ington and Great Falis Company purchased outright from the Green Springs owners 3,900 square feet, paying for it $2,250. As this sale, however, cut the tract in two, and would shut off the northern portlon from the road, Mr. Manogue secured in return from the Great Falis people an irrevokable right of way over the deeded piece. This preserves to the owners of the balance of the property the use of the college branch, formerly used for milling purposes. An entire right of way has now been secured by the company from the Georgetown to Great Falls terminus.

There is a big force at work on the road and an early completion is looked for.

Were Not Gypsies. It now transpires that the band of supposed gypsies who camped on Congres Heights, near Ahacostia, a few days ago were nothing more than some of the push-cart venders from this city, who probably cart venders from this city, who probably went over there because business was dull in the city. When the police scattered the crowd, and drove them from there, they found a large pile of corn piled near where they had camped, and this corn, it is alleged, had been taken from a cornfield near by. Policemen Allen and Branson made an investigation of the case, and the result was that last night they caused the arrest an investigation of the case, and the result was that last night they caused the arrest of five alleged members of the party on a charge of malicious trespass. When the crewd had been frightened off the officers found that they had built a fire, and were cooking roasting ears and beef.

The persons arrested gave their names as John Kringeman, George Collis, John Schuyler, Penge Boppes and Peter Leonarde. narde.

Benning Citizens Discuss Manual Lábor Schools. There was an unusually interesting and lively meeting of the Benning Citizens Association last evening, which was called to order by Vice President Mewshaw. Be sides a good number of members, several ladies were present to listen to the discussion of the monthly topic, "Manual Training in the Public Schools," which waxed so warm that the chairman was compelled to call members to order several times.

last meeting the road committee made its report, which was accepted, and then the committee on education, through Mr. Mew-shaw, reported that they had held a meeting, at which it was ascertained, first, tha the shop in which the boys and girls of Benning were being taught different trades, &c., was located about a mile from the school house; second, that one room in the school house was improperly heated in the winter time, and third, that the furniture in rooms where the fourth, fifth, sixth, eventh and eighth grades are taught is of an antiquated pattern and wholly insuffielent to accommodate the pupils. In view of the foregoing facts the committee recommend that an addition be built to the pres mend that an addition be built to the present school house of sufficient size to accommodate the manual training and the cooking and sewing schools, and that an additional stove be provided for Mrs. Voorhees' room, as well as new and sufficient furniture for the five higher grades. On motion of Mr. Clark the report was accepted, the recommendations concurred in, and the committee authorized to go ahead and secure the needed improvements.

Mr. Broome of the auditing committee reported having examined the books and found collections to the amount of $117, and on request the chairman granted the com-was discharged.

Under the head of good of the association the monthly topic for discussion, "Manual Training in the Public Schools," was taken up and very ably and forcibly discussed. Prof. Voorhees of the Benning School stated that it was the aim of these training schools to train the eye and the hand of the pupils. He said Washington was behind the other cities, but rapidly catching up and perfecting its system. He cersured the parents of Benning for not visiting the schools and encouraging the teachers in their work. Mr. Mewshaw delivered an elaborate address, and was followed by Mr. France, who opposed manual training in the public schools because, be thought, it an injury to trades unions. Prof. Voorhees said he thought trades unions were a curse to the country, and that assertion nearly precipitated a small riot; but matters were smoothed over, and finally, on motion, discussion of the topic was continued until next Tuesday evening, after which the meeting adjourned.

Another Bates Will. A second will of the late Capt. Francis H. Bates, U. S. A., dated February 16, 1892, with a codicil, dated January 7, 1893, has been filed. All the estate, excepting the deceased's army commission and a few relics, which are given to his daughter. Catherine S. Bates, is left to Mary C. C. Bates, his widow, who is named as executrix. In the event of Mrs. Bates' death the daughthe event of Mrs. Bates death the daugnter is to take the estate, and in the event of the decease of both, one-third is to go to Sarah B. Burgess of East Wareham, Mass., and the remainder to Wm. M. Bates of Boston, Mass.

Rev. Mr. Davenport and His Wife Grateful for Many Kindnesses.

Rev. W. G. Davenport and Mrs. Davenort will sail from New York Saturday for Glasgow, to bring home the remains of their son Dana, who, they are now satisfled, died there Sunday, July 21. The strange disappearance of young Mr. Davenport and the final report of his death in Scotland attracted much notice to the case and drew forth many expressions of sympathy for the distressed parents. Rev. and Mrs. Davenport on the eve of their de-Mrs. Davenport on the eve of their departure on their sad errand have prepared a statement expressing "to the many friends who have shown their sympathy in words and acts of kindness to us, during the long weeks of our weary and anxious waiting, our heartfelt gratitude. It has been impossible to reply," they say, "to the large number of letters received from ioving friends, near and far, but we assure them that their words have been comforting and helpful. And their prayers have been heard. We now know what became of our lost boy. We go to Glasgow to remove his remains, and see that they have proper burial. This will be the last loving office we can perform in this life for one who was endeared to very many by his generous nature and devout life."

This morning the rite of the sacrament of the holy communion was administered by Mr. Davenport at his church in Anacostia in the presence of an unusually large congregation for a weekday service, all of whose sympathies and prayers Dr. and Mrs. Davenport will carry with them on their sad jourrey.

Dr. Davenport wrote to Bishop Paret of the P. E. docese of Maryland, who has general supervision of all the pulpits of the churches in the diocese while they may be vacant from any cause and asked him to appoint a deacon to take his place during his absence, and it is generally believed that Bishop Paret will assign Rev. George Davenport, a son of the absent minister, and a promising preacher, to officiate during his father's absence. This appointment, if made, will, it is believed, give entire satisfaction to the congregation worshiping at Emmanuel. parture on their sad errand have prepared
